TO THE READER.

Altho it has been Customary to Usber in Undertakings of this Nature, with insignificant and Tedious Commendations, which served only to tire the Readers Patience and stagger his Belief, and may perhaps be expected now upon a Collection which may justly Challenge the Precedency of what has lately been presented to the World. Yet being resolved to proceed in quite contrary Methods, to what has been formerly used, and to Manage the whole with that Candor and Sincerity as shall leave no room for exception. I shall not make use of that Advantage which this Collection would afford me, only desire the Ingenious and Learned, to be their own Judges, not doubting but upon an impartial View, they will find Curiosities sufficient not only to invite them, but to exert a Generosity that may further incourage.

Your,

Humble Servant.

NATHANIEE ROLLS.
